

Breathlessness Research Interest Group

9th December 2008 meeting

Cancer Research UK Cambridge Research Institute (CRI)

Organised by the Cambridge Breathlessness Research Group
Dr Sara Booth & Dr Morag Farquhar

Sent on behalf of Dr Sara Booth & Dr Morag Farquhar

Apologies for cross-posting

Dear Colleagues

You are invited to a Breathlessness Research Seminar to be held in the CRUK building, Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge on 9th December 2008, 9.30am-4.35pm.

It will be an all-day meeting and is aimed at those with an active interest in breathlessness research in advanced disease. Presentations will concentrate on recently completed research or work in progress or questions for future work and include aspects of measurement, interventions for breathlessness and patterns of breathlessness and disease trajectories.

We hope to make it no-cost or at the very least very low-cost admission but will have expenses we have to cover. We are hoping to do this indirectly. If we do have to charge it would be a maximum of £25 with lunch and drinks included.

If you are interested please email Pauline (address below) and you will be set an outline programme and a map of the venue.

If there is anyone else you think should be invited who is interested in research into breathlessness in advanced disease do let Pauline know.

Dr Graeme Rcker (Professor of Respiratory Medicine at Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada) will be giving an open lecture at about 3.35 pm (tea from 3.15pm) on 'Care of the advanced COPD patient', for which there is no charge.

Best wishes

Sara Booth & Morag Farquhar

Pauline Kleanthous: pauline.kleanthous@addenbrookes.nhs.uk